

Our list of calamities shows that the Lord continues to visit the nations.

Confagration at Smyrna.—The following details are taken from a private letter, dated Smyrna July 9, 1845:

Smyrna is again in misery and ruins: a larger and more awful conflagration than the last commenced on the evening of the 3rd instant, continued violently for twelve or fifteen hours and upwards of two days in burning embers and sidesfires: even up to yesterday here and there many houses and store buildings were burning—some from being opened too soon, when the heated air burst into flame.—It began in the centre of the town, aided by a furious north wind, (which afterwards changed) destroying everything right and left, and for a circumference, I calculate, of at least a mile and a half.—The town half side of Frank-street is consumed, and then right away to our exit out of town to Boodja. The English hospital was saved by a miracle, and thereby saved that part of the town and the so-called Rue de Rose. The Austrian hospital is burnt. Close to it Borelli's lives: he was saved, although the fire was burning on three sides of him. Then backwards, all the Armenian quarter, except Pardie street, is destroyed. The fire skirted the Jews' quarter—burning some 100 houses—and then spread to the grand Vizier Khan and up to the Bazaars.—Shoemaker lane is all burnt, and round about St. George's, as in the former fire. The three corners, Athoson's, Maltae, &c. are saved. It came near to us, when Van Lennep's and three or four adjoining houses were burnt; but all these being built with terraces and long passages, the half only towards Frank street were consumed, and the fire was fortunately stopped. By pulling houses down in the little lanes we pass through, going into the country, from Frank street, we stopped it on that side of us, although it was very close. The Dutch and Turen Consultations were burnt; two or three large Khans—that is, the Grand Vizier, a new made one, and Imaus Oglu Khan, were destroyed. The Greek hospital, close to the Austrian hospital, was saved by a great exertion. It had 300 invalids in it.—Four hundred large wine-taverns and their depots, &c. are gone. At one time the fire so raged, that had not a change of wind taken place, it was thought all Smyrna must have been in ruins.—Mr. Jackson says it is the worst fire he has ever seen, and larger even than that in 1797. He as well as Brant and all down our neighborhood had their houses dismantled, and every thing put into magazines, but, thank God, the English have escaped. Very few, and those only in rented houses, have been burnt out; among whom are our friends Junior, Charnaud, the Vice Consul, and some others. Young Whital made a grand stand and saved their house, and consequently the neighborhood.

Great assistance was given by the Austrian corvetts and French brig in port. The English men-of-war were unluckily absent. Some 50 or 60 people may have lost their lives.

The Armenians are completely ruined, and how business, with reference to old engagements, will get on, I don't know, though not much merchandise has been lost—manufactures to $10,000; valans—perhaps as much. The religious schism cause great delay and difficulty in forming a committee of succor. The Sisters of Charity are doing a great deal of good. As yet our English subscription comes up to $500. I am particularly fortunate, and my people are all saved, including Browning and my brothers.—Most of the brokers of the other houses have lost—some their all, the savings of many years. The weather is excessively hot, and the supply of water very short at Boodja. We also suffer from want of it. A fire in this country is dreadful.—Many thousands are compelled to live out in the open air in the gardens, fed by charity, as they must be for some time: and the first day or so after the fire no bread was to be had.

A Steam Ship on Fire.—The Captain of the Norwegian brig Staatsraad Vor, arrived this morning, reports that on the night of the 26th of June, in latitude 47° 30', longitude 40° 1', he saw a long vessel fire, which he took to be a steamship. He was within half a mile of her when the deck fell in. As there were no boats around her, he supposed that the crew and passengers had left the vessel the day before. The vessel, if a steamer, was probably one of those plying between Great Britain and the West Indies.—None of the steam packets to or from the United States would be likely to be near the latitude and longitude specified on the 26th of June. [Com. Adv.]

Fire.—At Albany, on the night of the 4th, the stables, sheds and outhouses in the rear of the buildings on State, Pearl and Eagle streets, were all consumed, with two small-frame dwellings in a alley that runs up from Lancaster street, and four houses on Park street, and two on Eagle street.

The blacksmith and wheelwright shop of Mr. John Kelley, in Richmond, Va., was burnt on Friday night with his kitch adjoining: loss about $1200. A negro man in the employment of Mr. Kelley, has been arrested on suspicion of being the incendiary.

Destructive Hail-Storm.—The thunder gust of Sunday afternoon is said to have been very heavy in Anne Arundel County; and a small portion of it was the scene of a severe hail storm. The Hibernian Knights of yesterday afternoon, sporting of it, says:

"Captain Richard Phelps, John Smith, Charles Smith, Josephus Smith, Joseph

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 27, 1845.

PRINTERS' RIDE.

On Thursday last, the second part of a wedding, or 'Printers' Ride,' came off in fine style from Nauvoo, to the prairie, &c. The day was excellent, and the party, which numbered about forty-five, and occupied ten carriages, besides a baggage wagon, consisted of a branch of the general government, the Postmaster and lady, right in a full moon of honey, and his deputies; Elder John Taylor, (sen. editor) lady, and family; Judge Phelps (jun. editor) lady and daughter; Foreman and lady; assistant foreman and lady; the compositors, with ladies and ladies in expectancy; pressmen and ladies; clerks and theirs also; the master binder and lady; and, then there was mixed in the crowd our two devils, the junior & which is more than "six feet two."

All went on like a cavalcade, or grammatically, a retinue of carriages with a jar, and arrived at the farm house of Mr. Wright, about six miles out, between 10 and 11 o'clock, a.m.

Here the festivities of the day commenced according to the wisdom of Solomon: "Every man eat, drink, and enjoy the good of all his labor, it is the gift of God."—And this was made doubly so, by changing the 'infare' into a 'meloning,' after which a cold collation fitted the guests for other services, which were performed on foot.

There is something that enlivens the soul and feasts the mind, after leaving the busy bustling scenes of every day in a city, and placing oneself in the midst of an ocean of prairie, to view the handy works of God and man, in their glory: the heavenly sky; the fleecy clouds; the breathing wind; the towering stacks; the marshalled cornfields; the prairies dotted with herds of cattle, and the shepherd boys, and "all nature," as we printers say, "with his green round about" glimmering with the golden effulgence of a clear heat, as a varnish and finish beyond the touch of art." 'Tis sublime!

A little before three, the whole chain of scientific operators, set off for Mr. Benbow's, where, the second part of "meloning" was performed to a charm. And here permit the remark, that "our host," Mr. Wright and lady, and "our host" Mr. Benbow and lady, have the printers' token of gratitude for remarkable blessings: etc. for helps, and etc. for rewards and acts of notoriety among brethren:—May they be continued with full pages of royal works, till the great foreman locks up their perfect forms, in his imperial chase for an endless edition of glory.

Into a phalanx again, and away we all whirled on the road, and down Parley street into Nauvoo.

Third halt at Elder Taylor's, where a glass of wine and a little wit served as a period (.) to the last chapter.

But hold on:—the "finis" consisted in escorting the "happy pair," that is, this "bough of the general government," to their dwelling among the saints, which was performed gracefully.

To say the least, there never was associated together, for past time, a better, cleverer, or politer band of friends; even our "six foot two devils" was clever than the Lord Mayor of London. Not a word of profane language, not a drop of the essence of evil, (unless the "roguey" of villainous man,) had mixed a little in the wine at the close;) nor not a mean trick disgraced the harmony and union of the "Printers' Ride."

Nota-bena.—Our drivers were just as good as the guests, and only one forgot that and he repented.

Success to time, life and being, And men and women worth seeing.

Great Riot in Kentucky.—A serious uprising of the Kentuckians has lately taken place at Lexington, on account of the course taken by Cassius M. Clay in relation to slavery. His press and type have been mobbed back to Cincinnati. Particulars in our next.

Smart.—It is said that about 60,000 persons will look at the Lion Steamer, Great Britain, now in New York, at 3 p.m. this afternoon.

"Smart—It is said that about 60,000 persons will look at the Lion Steamer, Great Britain, now in New York, at 3 p.m. this afternoon.

Holy Alliance.—Law and Forges have been closing together in Montrose (1 T.) for several days back. Let the nations beware! Such a holy alliance speaks more knavery, more felony, more fire, more war, and more calamity to come. Such conjunctions among asteroids on earth, are worse omens than long tailed comets in the regions of space. Ain't they Tom?

Heigh ho!—The "federal" as usual have begun to complain about the "War." They always did just so. What a fine thing it is that the Mormons love to support their country and country's friends; for, since Walters of the Register broke his back in a wrestling with the Mormons, he bullies, here and there, have evinced a determination, that a strong man untried is better than a "whipt rooster."

Wurz-wana.—Miller & Brothers' store of Quincy was robbed of about $800 worth of silks and other fine goods on Tuesday last. If any such goods are offered in Nauvoo, secure them, &c., that the way of vilians may be traced out.

Drought in Mississippi.—A friend writes from Noxubee County, Miss. and says "we have the severest drought in this country I ever saw; there is great distress; corn is one dollar per bushel; hard times, and worse a coming."

LIVING VIRTUE UNPAPABLE!—The New England Puritan regrets that Generali Jackson did not make a public confession and atonement in regard to duelling, as the great warrior and statesman David confessed and atoned for his sin in procuring the death of Uriah that he might enjoy his beauteous wife. —Boston Post.

etc. Such false comparisons and such foolish suggestions, never ought to mislead and insult the minds of an enlightened people. David atoned for his sin when? In the days of the Apostles (see Acts 2: 34) he had not ascended into heaven, and of course, was in Hell, atoning for wilful murder; and there having been no resurrection since, he is there still. The scriptures reveal nothing about Gen. Jackson, and most likely, he will wait, like other men till the day of Judgment.

Reward of Merit.—Horace Greeley of the N. Y. Tribune has been presented with a hat for simply telling the following fire story:

"At the time the first explosion took place, a fireman belonging to Engine Co. 22, standing on the roof of a house next to the explosion, was blown, we are assured by the Foreman of the Company, two whole squares before touching the ground. He escaped with a sprained ankle."

Horace, to cap the climax, comes out with an awful cut, showing two fish, tail to tail, kicking a salamander for hat out of the Ocean, or the next place below, as sport for a whale. All Greeley lacks now, to be perfectly prepared for fire and water, (his clay being rather dirty and lumpy) is old 'Nessus' shirt." Then, hurra, for news from the interior of the Sca. and the other place too, fire and water not excepted! The fire won the hat, and the fish the shirt, and satan claims the whole, as the jig of a flirt.

Bodily Wifery.—Dr. Leipsius, who is now in Egypt, says that the rich Hassan Dey, has forty-two wives and one hundred and ninety-seven children.

etc. If he was at Warsaw, guess he would muse among the ruins of Carthage, while the horrors of Alton grinned in a statue, and slobbered on paper.

True O King!—The St. Louis Sun says keeping dangerous dogs and splitting open women's heads, are crimes of equal magnitude, in the opinion of our Recorder.

etc. The meaning of the above is, that Tom for knocking down his wife, and old Sol Smith for keeping a dangerous dog, were fined one dollar a piece. We have heard of such a thing as a blue, and then again of a better blue, but never before did we learn that a dollar was the price of making, mending, or wholesaling the dignity of man and beast in Missouri.

Go it partial Judges, Juries, and sniveling Saints, black coats are cheap as well as rape characters.

The Seven Works.—We see it noticed in the late foreign news, says an Eastern paper, that the Wesleyan Methodists of Great Britain are about to disown any connection with those of the United States who are slave holders. Such proscriptive and unchristian conduct, on the part of transatlantic Christians, towards citizens of this country, unless properly rebuked by all Americans, may in the end lead to unpleasant and disastrous consequences, so far as the peace of the two nations is concerned.

etc. Certainly lead to unpleasant and disastrous consequences! which will end in war! that's the rub.

For the Neighbor.

Revolution in the Daily Press.—The Press is a mighty engine, and can be used for exalted or base purposes.

Once upon a time, in the good old days of Republican dominance, it pursued a steady and moderate course, giving consequences and solidity to the benevolent and philanthropic institutions of a free people. It received no laurels from the mass that it could not wear with some degree of merit, and the wild panegyric of political frenzy, or the fulsome adulation of the beardless coxcomb, did not wholly stifle "still small voices" of reason and truth, when raised in advocacy of "equal rights." It moved on steady pace; and, as the people by degrees forgot the yoke of John Bull's oppression; as prosperity spread its magnificent over their enterprises; as the nation began to feel her consequence among the Powers of the world; as she spread out the boundaries of her public domain; as she filled her coffers with the gold of the people; as she shared in all the benefits which increasing opulence gives to nations; the fire of self-ambition began to blaze, and the sordid desire for gain, for power and place in the stalls of the Government crib, began to take root in the mind, and now and then the waters of republicanism were troubled by restless spirits. Alma Mater, in the Independent of Boston, the Champion of the Anti-Slavery cause, to shackle of tyranny; to emancipate the mind from the manacles of proscription; to throw light upon the moral darkness of ages; to sweep away the rubbish of bigotry; to unmask the meaty forms of falsehood; to expose the hypocrites in their privileges; to defend the injured of the oppressed; to set free the oppressed; to abolish the captives; to vindicate the causes of slaves; to promote morality; to advocate the gospel of Jesus Christ; to shield religious societies from abuse; to put a silence to placemen; to plead the cause of martyrs; to bring murderers to justice; to argue at the peace of society; to build up the kingdom of God; to prepare the world for Millennium dispensation, and the coming of the Messiah. It should be used to give importance to the genius of Governments; to strengthen the bonds of social compact; to secularize national wealth; to urge onward the ship of State in its proximity to dignified greatness; to augment power; to stretch out the boundaries of the public domain; to promote the fortunes of war, when war is inevitable; to convey wisdom in times of peace; to abolish the self-willed, and not guarded on one side by the checks and balances of truth; justice and virtue; danger is at the door; and calamity, defeat, and many evils, will follow close upon the heel of every ovenment.

The tranquillity to which society had settled, was annoyed by the juggling of aspirants; the calm was broken by the tempest of the melting multitude, and the noise of the troupe about the movements of "Blue Light Advertisers;" the "Treason of Aaron Burr;" the "Dangerous movements of the Hartford Convention;" the "Destructive Principles of Nullification;" and "The Military Prowess of American Heroes;" broke out into a confused clamor, and rumbled through the Union, like the rumbling of private life to drag infidels before the speculating multitude; and, finally, to secure the mass in the enjoyment of political and religious rights.

Also also! how different has been the policy of the Press of this age!

When a messenger descended from the courts of celestial glory, and brought the news of the true gospel to the children of men, the Press refused to give it publicity to the world. The two companies of Volunteer Artillery will leave on Wednesday, on board the steam ship Alabama, together with four companies of United States troops, (7th Regiment, Infantry,) two of which are expected to-morrow morning from Pass Christian, under Captain Moore and Holmes.

Foreign News

The mammoth iron steamer, Great Britain, arrived at New York on the 10th instant, in fifteen days from Liverpool. We select a few items from the news by her.—The fire at Smyrna is the greatest:

SPAIN.

Madrid papers of the 14th state, that the decree against the press has roused some opposition even among the supporters of the Ministry, but it is of that weak and uncertain kind that might be expected where the writers feel that the most moderate opposition might expose them to imprisonment, banishment, or ruin. A meeting of the conductors of the public journals was to be held on the 15th, to concert what part was wise to be taken in the affair.

The press in Spain is in so degraded a state, that it has itself, in a great measure, led to the catastrophe which now overwhelms it, by its sycophancy and dishonesty. Its ruin is now so complete, that no resolutions of its conductors can, at this period, save it.

The Madrid papers give long accounts of the progress of the insurrection in Catalonia, but they add nothing to the information direct from Barcelona.

SYRIA.

The intelligence from Syria represents that country as being in a very disturbed state. The Druses were roving in quest of plunder, and intent upon pillaging all travelers who came within their reach.

CHINA.

The news from China is to the 8th of April. The most remarkable item thereof is an account of an assault by a mob of Chinese on Mr. Montgomery Martin, Mr. Jackson, (the Vice-Consul,) and the Rev. R. Hunter. These gentlemen were, it seems, walking round the walls of Canton, when they were unprovokedly set upon by the people, from whom they escaped with no other injury than the mortification of being buffeted and robbed by a crowd of low blackguards. The Governor of Hong Kong had sent to Keying to demand redress and guarantees for future good conduct, but the result is yet unknown.

INTERESTING FROM IRELAND

Particulars of the dreadful affair at Ballinassig Fair, &c.—The state of Ireland.

The unusually quick passage of the Cambrian from Liverpool has put us in possession of foreign news a day or two earlier than we expected. We gave yesterday some brief extracts and made allusions to the 'dreadful affair,' at Ballinassig Fair, in Ireland, as one that had created considerable excitement. In the Cork Reporter we find the particulars of that affair and give it as interesting to the public.

There is an annual fair held in the village of Ballinassig on the 30th of June, which is usually well attended by all the farmers and people in that district, and it is customary to send a small police force to the fair in order to keep order.

About half-past 7 o'clock, when the business of the fair had concluded, a number of persons remained near the fair field, and about the little village. A party of police, 19 in number, under the command of Mr. Kelly, sub-inspector at Kinsale, were stationed near the cross-road. At one side of this spot, is a public house, kept by a person named Callahan, and at the other side of the road running parallel with it, is a low slated house used as a dispensary. Two persons in the crowd, from the neighborhood of Adamstown, whose names are Sullivan and Neale, began to quarrel, and others having interfered, the police felt it their duty to arrest one of the principals, Sullivan, and immediately on their doing so, one or two mischievous persons called out in Irish—'Don't let him with them.' Symptoms of a disposition to rescue Sullivan having thus become perceptible, the police retained with their prisoner to the dispensary. Here some stone throwing occurred. Some shots having been fired, a number of the country people got into a garden behind the dispensary, and threw stones on the roof, until they had smashed in two or three places. The police, in the meantime, fired from the window and door, with deadly effect. There was no magistrate present; no riot act read; no warning to the people to desist; no attempt made to disperse them by a bayonet charge, or a volley of blank cartridge. At the first fire several fell, the police then came out; some of them fired again, and again returned, and the whole party once again rushed out, and the people having by this time ran in all directions, they turned up by the bridge in the direction of their barracks. When they went from the dispensary, a small body of people followed them; and though no attack was attempted, one or two of the police turned round, and again fired with the same aim and effect that signalized their previous proceedings.

The condition of some of the wounded is thus described:

'On a heap of potatoes in the corner, resting on the lap of an aged woman, lay the body of a fine athletic man, his clothes open, and his chest covered with blood; three or four women were collected about—a group of men surrounded him, and only a hollow moan from the females occasionally broke the silence of the house of mourning. In less than a minute he had ceased to exist, and this announcement of the melancholy truth seemed the signal for a burst of that anguish only the Irish peasant can express, when involved in such absorbing sorrow. The wailing of his mother defies all description; she tore her hair, beat her head with her clenched hands and seemed to grasp the lifeless clay with a tenacity—hoping against hope—which could not fail to make an endeavoring and sorrowful impression on all who witnessed it. The name of the deceased was Jeremiah Coghlan, he lived at Skerhaw, was a small farmer, and left besides his aged mother, a wife and one child to bewail his sad and untimely fate. The bullet entered at his back, and passing through his back, and passing through the lungs, came out at the left side.'

'From this we proceeded with all expedition to Adamstown, where we found some of the most dangerous cases had been removed to their own houses.—At the house of Maurice Crokran, whom we found lying on a bed almost in the agonies of death, his wife and four small children were screaming at the bed side, and a crowd of neighbors blocked up the single apartment of his wretched and cheerless habitation. His case was quite hopeless.'

'We next came to a house where, indeed a most afflicting spectacle awaited us. The woman of the house, Johanna Holland, aged 23, and lately married, was shot dead near the bridge in the village, after the police had left the dispensary. Her mangled corpse was lying on a table facing the door, and a vast crowd, principally females, thronged the house, which from its general appearance I should say belonged to a comfortable farmer. The transcript of the above place, says that he has since completely recovered, and has married the very girl that caused his misfortune. She certainly could not longer doubt his love, though she might his sanity.'

Indians—"shoot the horses"—"shoot him—shoot him." Edgerton spoke at the top of his voice, and commanded the peace, calling on all persons to assist him in preserving the peace. A volley was discharged by the Indians, and Edgerton's horse was shot in the breast. Immediately a second volley was fired, when Steele fell, mortally wounded. His horse expired in a few minutes; Edgerton's was killed instantly. Steele was taken to the house, where it was found that three balls had taken effect, one in the chest, another in the bowels, and the third in the right arm.

He survived till about 8 o'clock, being in excruciating agony all the time, when he expired. His wife and friends arrived a few moments before his death, in time to bid him the last adieu on earth. An inquest is now being held at the Court House, before C. E. Perry, Esq. Coroner.

We understand that one of the falsehoods set afloat by the Anti Renters to counteract the effect calculated to be produced by their murder is, that Steele and Edgerton fired upon the Indians first, and that Mr. Wright fired after the Indians had done so. This is all false. Neither Mr. Wright nor Mr. Edgerton fired at all; Mr. Steele fired once after he was wounded.

We have no heart to comment at present upon this inhuman murder. Our citizens feel deeply the sad affliction by which one of their number, beloved and respected by all, has been cut off in the prime of life, while faithfully performing his duty as a public officer.

Our young friend has fallen a sacrifice to the spirit of rebellion and worse than heathenish barbarism that has been for some time spreading in our once peaceful County.—But with his untimely death has sprung up a fire that will not be subdued till the last vestige of that hellish system is obliterated. Law and order must and will prevail, be the cost what it may.

Struck Dumb and Blind.—During a late storm in England, when the thunder was powerful and the lightning vivid, a party of males and females took refuge in a public house; one man laughed at the party because they exhibited great fear, and he mocked in blasphemous language the power of the storm; suddenly a flash of lightning struck him down, and when taken up, he was both dumb and blind.—Phil. Keystone.

Dutch glory.—A few months ago a Canadian paper, a German at Dayton in a fit of jealousy, leaped from a window in the third story and fell to the ground, breaking the steps and some of his limbs. The cause of the desperate act was the refusal on the part of his 'lady-love' to dance with him. The transcript of the above place, says that he has since completely recovered, and has married the very girl that caused his misfortune. She certainly could not longer doubt his love, though she might his sanity.

POSTSCRIPT.
Assassination triumphant at Washington.—On Monday the 18th inst., Wm. R. Elliott, a brother-in-law of J. C. Rives, was shot dead through the chest, and a man named Charles McCarthy, who resided at Ballyhassig, has left a wife and four young children, also shot dead and has been carried to a distance by his friends. He was shot at the door of a man named McCarthy, a cousin of his, under circumstances which would show the act to be of the most aggravated character. A man named Deasy is also shot to death so dangerously wounded as that his death is hourly expected.

There is a policeman named Dawson, rather severely hurt. He has three cuts on his head from stones, and his lip is split; but nothing more serious. Altogether there were eight killed and many wounded. A number of other touching cases are mentioned of suffering, wounded and dying from this affray, which we have not room to detail.

ANTI-RENT MURDER!

Deputy Sheriff O. N. Steele Inhumanly Butchered!!—Our county has been the scene of a most brutal murder, which occurred yesterday in the town of Andes.

The Sheriff a few days since endeavored to sell some property belonging to Moses Earle, of Andes, which he had levied upon by virtue of a distress warrant. Not being able to obtain bidders (owing to the threats, &c. of the Anti-Renters,) he adjourned the sale till yesterday, when he proceeded to Earle's, accompanied by Deputy-Sheriff O. N. Steele, P. P. Wright Esq. and Constable E. S. Edgerton. Upon arriving on the ground, at about 10 o'clock in the morning, there were several spectators there. The Sheriff endeavored to have the master settled, without a sale, but Earle said he would not settle it, but would fight it at the hardest. In about half an hour Indians began to appear, armed with rifles; and at about half past twelve, they commenced marching out of the woods. There were about one hundred and fifty. The Indians formed a hollow square around the cattle, and placed a platoon at the barn, forbidding the citizens entering the barn, and several fine farms on the prairie, which they will sell very low, or exchange for grain, beef cattle, cows, horses or other property that can be used in building the Nauvoo House.

Horrid Murders and Self-destruction.—We have received information from Neshoba that five Indians were killed in that county last week. An affray occurred in the early part of the week between three Indians, when one of the number succeeded in killing the other two. He was immediately arrested by a party of Indians, and was offered the alternative either to be shot or to shoot himself. He preferred the latter; and just before he committed the fatal deed, he vowed himself ready to die; said that his revenge was satisfied, as he had killed two, and was perfectly willing that his life should be forfeited. He placed the muzzle of his rifle to his head with the utmost composure, pulled the trigger, and blew his own brains out.

The fourth Indian was killed in Mr. Killen's yard, being struck on the head with a billet of wood by another Indian, which broke his skull in two places. He died immediately. The fifth Indian was also killed by one of his comrades, the particulars of which have not yet transpired. Paulding, Miss., Clarion.

Eggs for Rigdonites.—We are informed, says the Gettysburg (Pa.) Compiler, that a company of mowers on the farm of Col. D. David M. Myers, of Berwick township, in this (Adams) county, found no less than seventeen dozen and three eggs on a spot of ground one fourth of an acre in extent—a single nest containing sixty-three eggs—the produce of four Guineas-hens.

To his friends in the surrounding country who have heretofore patronized him, he would state, that he should feel obliged by a continuation of their favors.

Shop on Main street, a few doors below the post office.

JAMES BIRD.

PROSESSES.
A good specimen of the Independent.
Composed by H. D. Thomas, aged 17 years.
and it is composed of 1000 fine leaves.
The days of my death draweth near.
I am bound for the nuptials above.
O Lord, my spirit prepare,
To rest in the arms of thy love.

I leave this life behind,
To make my abode in the clay.
From sin and all sins to refine,
And to arm till the great rising day.

And when the loud trumpet shall sound,
And bid all the saints to draw near,
Triumphant this body shall rise
To meet with the Lord in the air.

And all of the saints shall arise,
And with the heavenly choir,
And singallelujah to meet
Jesus the King of the Earth.

And all the saints now above,
That ever received the new birth,
With power and glory descend
To reign with the Lord on the earth.

And now they are all gathered in,
To the mission the Father prepared:
The glorious host of the Lamb.
The supper of one thousand years.

And the king cometh to the gates,
The holy fair hide of the Lamb,
And see the one there standing
With no wedding garment on.

How come you hither, he cries,
Without a garment prepared?
And I am about to be armed to do—
And he could not answer a word.

Bind him hand and foot, then he cries,
In sorrow convey him away,
Where there is weeping and gnashing of teeth,
Till the end of the great wedding day.

And now when old Satan is bound,
I shuns confined to his den,
The heavenly hosts will rejoice,
And singallelujah again.

And now in triumph they seat,
And lean on the breast of the groom,
Till the great, great supper is past,
And the wedding garment worn.

And when when comes the last hour,
To move up the earthquakes,
To gather his numerous hosts,
To battle against the Lamb.

He goes forth on the breath of the earth,
And compasseth the camp of the saints,
And fire cometh down from where,
And devours them all at once!

Then comes the hour again,
And conveyed to the great lake of fire,
For ever there to remain,
And burn the saints no more.

Now the white throne doth appear,
And the Judge that sitteth thereon,
Before him all nations appear,
To hear their decisive doom.

Death and hell delivers their dead,
The sea holds their captives no more,
Before the bar they do stand,
Till the great judgment day is past over.

They divide to the right and the left,
Where none can wonder astray,
The sheep they receive their reward
And the goats are driven away.

Now heaven and earth pass away,
And no place for them is now found;
The new heaven and earth doth descend,
And encircles the saints all around.

The holy city descends,
From the throne of God and the Lamb,
And saints do all enter in,
And forever they do remain.

They walk in the streets of gold,
Urged with the heavenly throng
In their eternal abode,
Where sorrow and pain cannot come.

And there they are all taught to sing,
In a new angelic strain,
Honoring God and the Lamb,
Forever and ever; Amen.

HOT PLEASURE IN ADVANCE!

To those who wish to ride over the Rapids of the beautiful Mississippi
I would say, I shall keep a good sail boat near Manhards Steam Mill for their accommodation and passengers to Keokuk.

The wind will blow along free as air—therefore we will land them at any convenient point on either side of the river after a pleasant sail on the bosom of the Father of waters, and I will endeavor to make engagements for a carriage; that those may take at the water's edge who desire it.
After regarding if they choose upon boat, oaks, &c. &c. Those who visit our city and wish to view the scenery on the islands, or lowes, will be conveyed there also. All things will be done decently and in good order. Come and see!

A. YOUNG.

N. B.—I particularly invite the Twelve,

President G. Miller, Father John Smith
and his clerk, with their families. Mother
Smith and the widow of the Martyred Prophet and Patriarch—to come and sail with me.

NEIGHBORS.

We have just about 20 copies of the last year's Neighbor for binding. Those wishing to purchase will have an opportunity.
